Frank Ramez, an ex-convict, was arrested Sunday for stealing a pistol and some money from Jennie Forrest, of the Capitol Lodging House.

To get the best trade in buying furniture go to Geo. W. Kitzmeyer. He has undoubtedly established a reputation for fair dealing in his thirty years in business in Carson.

The Enterprise came out in its old time form Sunday morning and in its salutary says: "The complete rehabilitation of silver as money of ultimate redemption is paramount to all party lines, and that is enough to say about our politics."

Sunday's Enterprise reports a big strike in the Justice. Now that the Enterprise is started the public can be sure of getting some reliable news and not a rehash of what appears in the Post and Report. Cagwin and Noteware are sole agents in Carson.

Mrs. Lulu D. Peters, divorced wife of Will Peters, and well known in Carson, and daughter of J. B. Campbell, so long a resident of Tahoe City, where the young lady was brought up, committed suicide at Sacramento Friday by taking morphine. Since her divorce from her husband she had been living with another man. A few days ago he left her and since then she has been despondent.

E. W. Maslin, Secretary of the State Board of Trade, asks through the columns of the Examiner if anyone in California is raising ramie and if so to send their names to him. This is rather a strange request, coming as it does. A year or so ago the ramie plant was talked of so much that a superintendent of ramie culture was appointed by name of Murray. It might be a good idea to find the superintendent's whereabouts to answer the question.

A Dramatic Treat.

Richard Foote, the California Tragedian arrived in Carson yesterday en route to Virginia City, where he played last night and will play again tonight.

Mr. Foote, supported by the charming comedienne Anne Plunkett and a first class company will present Don Cesar de Bazan and the Old Guard tomorrow night. Hugo the Hunchback, and a one-act comedy Thursday night.

Hugo the Hunchback was written especially for Mr. Foote, and is a splendid piece of dramatization.

Carson people who witnessed Mr. Foote's acting here last Summer, know what to expect of him, and the Opera House should be packed.

The admission is only 25 and 50 cents, and as it is for the benefit of the Nevada exhibit at the Midwinter Fair, everybody should go. The box sheet is now open at Steinmetz's drug store.

From now on the Capitol Restaurant will furnish tickets good for 21 meals for $4.50 or $18. per month. For $7 you can get a ticket for 21 meals which entitles you to chicken, porthouse or oysters served every meal. Private lunches or dinner parties furnished for $10 and upwards. o81m

Prof. L. Zimmer will furnish music for balls, parties, private and public entertainments, and give instructions on ten instruments; violin and mandolin a specialty. Apply at Ormsby House.

PAULINE CUSHMAN.

Her Cheered Life Closed by Morphine.

The following is from the San Francisco Chronicle of Sunday.

Some of the most stirring incidents of the war of the rebellion yesterday when the body of a gray-haired woman was brought to the Morgue, were recalled.

The cheap apparel and the stiff face seemed with age and lined with suffering, gave no hint that here was the last of a once dashing and picturesque figure.

The gray woman thus borne to the Morgue without friend or relative following or grieving was Mrs. Pauline Fryer better known as "Major Pauline Cushman, the Union Spy."

She had been seeking a pension for some time, but had latterly become very despondent because of the Government's delays, her poverty, and the anguish she suffered from sciatica and rheumatism.

The land-ladies of the house, Mrs. Eliza Taylor and Mrs. Elizabeth Chalmers, have no idea that Mrs. Fryer committed suicide. Nothing was found in her room to indicate that she had taken her own life. She left no scrap of writing that gave such an impression.

The story of Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Chalmers is that they discovered Mrs. Fryer in a comatose condition in her room about 10 o'clock in the morning. Drs. Moore and Harvey were immediately summoned and said that she bore every evidence of morphine poisoning. The usual remedies were applied, and her limbs were vigorously rubbed to restore circulation. In spite of all efforts the patient died shortly before 2 o'clock. She never recovered consciousness from the time she was discovered.

The day before she died she wrote a letter to Mrs. Florence Tillman, Florence, A. T., stating that Mrs. Tillman would soon see her in Arizona. This letter, stamped and addressed, was found among her effects. There were other letters written and directed, which had not been mailed. All of them were despondent in tone, but spoke of future plans in a way to forbid the idea of suicide. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Chalmers believe that if morphine caused her death that it was taken to relieve pain and not with suicidal intent.

Jones on Silver.

Washington, December 3.—Senator Jones of Nevada, who has spent the greatest part of his time since the adjournment of the extra session in New York, has returned to Washington.

He says that his observation of financial affairs confirms him in the opinion expressed by himself and other silver advocates prior to the passage of the bill repealing the Sherman Purchasing silver Act. There will be no material revival of business because of that action by Congress.

He finds some men who have been hoarding money since the panic began, showing a disposition to put it out for gilt edged securities, feeling that it is better to have a small income from the capital than to keep it idle; but then the disposition is against taking risks, and, as a consequence, there is little doing looking to the extension of the industrial interests of the country. This he attributed to the small volume of currency and to the fact that persons with money will not make investments when prices are falling.

Jones says he does not expect to see any legislation which will materially benefit silver during the present Administration.

Death of Mrs. Stewart.

Sunday night about 11 o'clock, Mrs. Sarah Stewart, the wife of Wellington Stewart, who was well known in this city, being one of the earliest settlers, died at her residence in this city, at the age of 69 years and 6 months. Old age was the cause of her death. Deceased was a native of Ohio.

The deceased leaves to mourn her death four daughters—Mrs. E. Mars, Mrs. T. B. Winston, Mrs. Glick and Mrs. Bryant—and two sons, Land and Welby.

The funeral will take place today at one o'clock from the Presbyterian Church. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend.

Boss filled cases warranted to wear 20 years, fine movement $25.00 at Golden's.

INJURED BY AN EXPLOSION.

Michael Powers' Face Frightfully Lacerated by Giant Caps.

At half past 3 o'clock this morning just as The Enterprise was going to press, news was received at the office that Michael Powers, a miner, had been seriously injured in the Connelidated Virginia shaft by the explosion of a box of giant powder caps and investigation proved the report true. Powers was preparing primers in the station on the 1,000 feet level, while the other miners on the 11 o'clock shift were working in the face of the south drift.

A loud explosion was heard by them, and on going to the station to ascertain the cause they found Powers lying on the floor with his face frightfully lacerated and covered with blood. He was brought to the surface and Dr. Packard was summoned, who after an examination pronounced his wounds serious, but not fatal. It was at first thought both of his eyes were blown out, but after the blood was washed from his face, he was able to see.

How the explosion occurred could not be ascertained, as Powers was alone in the station and in too great agony to explain. That an entire box of giant caps exploded is known from the fact that none were found in the station after the explosion occurred.

Powers's face is filled with fragments of the exploded caps, but no other portion of his body appeared to be injured. He has a family residing on Howard street.—Sunday's Enterprise.

Of Interest to Miners.

A Schellbourne, Nev., correspondent asks the Salt Lake Tribune if a miner did his assessment work for this year, prior to the passage of the law exempting mines from work, if that work will apply next year.

Of course not, any more than eating breakfast tomorrow will prevent being hungry day after tomorrow.

Another correspondent asks if, when a man has several mines in a group in a district, whether or not it is necessary to file a separate notice under the law for each claim with the Recorder, or if one notice with each mine described, will answer.

One notice is plenty, provided each mine is fully set forth so that the record will be a full notice to the prospector that each location is claimed.

The Wedge of Gold.

Judge Goodwin's last book "The Wedge of Gold" has run into its second edition in Utah.

We started from the World's Fair with the book as a traveling companion and just as we got in the most interesting part, we laid it aside in order to take dinner and it was borrowed by a lady.

She read it through, went into ecstasies over it and loaned it to another woman, every woman on the car read the book and pronounced it "out of sight."

Well it is still out of sight. It got into the next car and at Omaha we lost track of it.

The Heavyweight Runners.

The much talked of foot race between Ollie Tennant and Jake Troll didn't come off Sunday as advertised. Tennant was indisposed, and Jake forgot all about it, but it will take place next Sunday, rain or shine.
